

NEW 4-PLY TREATY IN EUROPE WOULD INCLUDE GERMANY MOVEMENT STARTED IN FRANCE TO OUST BUGBEAR U. S. NOT PARTY Washington Interested but Neutral Regarding Ten- tative Proposals.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.
Washington, Dec. 24.—The movement under way in Europe to bring about a new four power treaty whereby Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany should agree to guarantee each other's territory against unprovoked aggression, by any other power.

This plan, which seriously enough awakes in inspiration to French diplomacy, seeks a way to remove the bug-bear of a possible invasion by Germany which has been held forth as the continued existence of large standing armies on the continent of Europe. It is a plan which is being actively pushed by French liberals who are bent on the idea of the time has come to bring Germany into a combination with the United States and other powers which will transmute
Europe and aid its economic recuperation.

In one sense, the plan recognizes the unworkability of the enforcement clauses of the Versailles treaty with Germany. It is a plan which is being actively pushed by French liberals who are bent on the idea of the time has come to
bring Germany into a combination with the United States and
other powers which will transmute
Europe and aid its economic recuperation.

The United States government will of course not be a party to such a new treaty in Europe as it is the point of view of the American administration is that the treaty is a plan which is being actively pushed by French
liberals who are bent on the idea of the time has come to
bring Germany into a combination with the United States and
other powers which will transmute
Europe and aid its economic recuperation.

Mr. Harding has informally indicated that before long the European powers would have to include Germany in their discussions of European questions and that until Germany sat down at the same table with France and Great Britain there would be no assurance of a settlement of pending problems, especially reparations.

In the conferences which have been going on in London, the French viewpoint has been that until Great Britain gave France explicit guarantees that she would come to the aid of France in the event of an attack by Germany, there could be no curtailment of French land armaments. The British have declared that the withdrawal of French troops from the Rhine country would help to assure peace in Europe.

The situation is therefore somewhat analogous to that which prompted the four-power pact on the Pacific. In this case the French have failed to get a three-power pact with Great Britain and the United States guaranteeing France against unprovoked aggression, the alternative is to obtain such a guarantee for France by coupling it up with a German guarantee.

Germany and France.
French liberals who favor the plan
see no reason why their own government should object to it since to refuse to give a pledge that would guarantee Germany against attack by France might imply an ultimate intention to do so on the part of the French liberals. Great Britain would of course be willing to guarantee that she will not attack Germany and the latter would be bound to keep the peace for automatically she would incur the hostility of Italy, France and Great Britain. It is at this point that the French liberals are in a dilemma. It is indeed an attempt to produce a status such as might have prevented the outbreak of war in 1914, for it is still being said that Germany would never have gone to war if she had been sure that England would help France and Belgium. Incidentally the mutual guarantees would include Britain and assure her of neutrality and independence if the plan is finally approved.

Definite Object in View.
Official Washington is keenly interested in the conversations going on in Europe with reference to the new four power pact and it is expected that after the supreme council meets in Cannes some definite idea of this scheme or an alternative having the same object will be disclosed.

The market is experiencing the important attraction is the reducalso slowed down for the holiday is no accumulation of supplies and better business is anticipated after

BOWLING MEET BIG THING FOR CITY

Would Bring 180 Men a Day Here for Five Weeks During Winter.

BY DR. F. S. RICHARDS
Chairman, City Bowling Tournament Committee.

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the financial, economic and sporting features of such a convention and the Wisconsin State Bowling association's annual tournament in regard to the benefits accruing to the city which acts as host.

In today's issue of the Gazette, the other side of the question as to it is this that most nearly strikes home to our business men and those who are expected to support the campaign.

Janesville has never had a convention of this kind and comparatively few of our people have ever attended them. Therefore I realize this campaign must be largely an educational one. Once we get this tournament, our city will be forever after bidding for a thing having a taste of what it means to us.

The annual bowling tournament attracts men from every city and town in the state large enough to support bowling. Every one, taking part in the meet, looks forward to it for a vacation of five days, two days of clean sport and relaxation from business cares makes kids again of every man. They spend their money freely and 50 visitors a day.

In looking over the schedules of the tournaments of the past few years, I find that an average of 180 men come into the city every day for five weeks. These men stay two full days, rolling their five-man team event one day and the two-man and individual events the next day.

At Janesville, in Milwaukee, there were 215 teams entered. That means that there were 1,075 men who took part in the tournament. Six men make a full team, due to which on the team and one extra to roll in the two-man event.

A very conservative estimate of the amount each man will spend while in the city is $25. With a tournament of the same size as the one held last year, Janesville would be benefited financially to the extent of $22,500.

Some can say he does not benefit by the sudden influx of such an amount of money. We all get our share of it eventually.

Other cities want it.

I have heard from hotel men, alley men, business and professional men of cities that have entertained this convention, and all are tremendously enthusiastic and full of praise for the city. All are continuously begging for a return of the convention to their city which in itself is doubtless a proof of its worth.

Janesville is going to make the strongest bid possible for the 1923 meeting, an organized effort to put our city on the map, and show the people of Wisconsin that we are thoroughly capable of handling any large convention which we might be called upon to take care of.

At the Theatres

Featured by the Carr Trio, consisting of father, mother and son in a singing, talking and dancing act, at the Myers theatre, Friday night. Special scenery and costumes, form a beautiful setting, especially for a E. W. Waller number. Charles G. Boutin, manager, recollects the trio twelve years ago, when, the son, now a grown man, was appearing with them, but seven years old. They have been in vaudeville since.

Alceme and Piondemon gave a novel act, a boxing match with a real live kangaroo being featured.

Laura Marsh gave several songs and quips which were good.

Burns and Day, in a comedy singing and dancing act, took the parts of various school children.

The picture, "The Woman God Chastened," starring Sessie Owen, one of strong dramatic intensity, containing a great deal of romance and excitement, ends in a novel manner.

BAPTIST CHILDREN PROVIDE FOR NEEDY; PROGRAM IS GIVEN

Christmas exercises of the Baptist Sunday school, which included gifts for the Christmas baskets for needy families, were held Friday night at the church. The pupils were dressed in white, a white cross being a prominent feature, and the gifts were wrapped in white, making the whole ceremony very impressive.

Miss Esther Barker gave the story of the white gifts to the King. Virginia Jones gave several recitations, and Alfred Olsen sang a solo. Songs were also given by different groups as they came forward with their gifts.

A basket of toys and candy was brought by Wesley Innes and James Webb on behalf of the kindergarten. The primary children brought apples and oranges. The juniors canned goods, the intermediates package groceries, the classes of A. Olsen and Oliver Sanders, flour; Mrs. John Cunningham's class, home canned fruits and vegetables; and Mrs. Y. C. Pichett's class, oatmeal and sugar.

Mrs. Oliver Sanders recited a poem, and Rev. R. G. Pierson gave a brief Christmas message. The adult class contributed money with which to purchase things for the baskets which were filled and dispatched Saturday morning to needy families.

The Christmas party for the cradle roll department, Mrs. Emil Ehrlicher, superintendent; the Beginners with Mrs. A. S. Krotz, superintendent, and the Primary with Mrs. L. D. Barker, superintendent, was held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at the church parlors. The children played games, spoke a few pieces and then gathered around the Christmas tree with its lights turned low to listen to the Christmas story told by Mrs. Reinette Taylor. The tree was then lighted and the children had their Christmas dinner. Cream, apple and animal crackers were served to the little folks and to their mothers who were present. About 200 enjoyed the party.

ACT NEXT WEEK ON HIGH SCHOOL BIDS

Board Expected to Let but Two or Three of Five Contracts at This Time.

Further time for consideration of bids for the electrical, heating, plumbing, tile, marble and terrazzo work on the new high school was taken by the board of education holding an adjourned special meeting at the high school, Friday night. On motion of Commissioner Francis Grant, chairman of the new high school building committee, the board adjourned until 7:30 p. m. Thursday. All members of the board were present. Representatives of the Wisconsin Electric Sales company were the only contractors present. Judging from views of the board members it is probable that two or three of the contracts will be let, which are within the amount of funds already provided for by the action of the common council. The awarding of the contracts for the tile, marble and terrazzo can be delayed for some time as it is not necessary that this work be started for several months.

This will allow the board members time to find means of securing the extra funds and at the same time not impede the progress being made in bringing the building to completion. The board members are determined to complete the building as soon as possible as within a short time conditions in the high school will be acute and action to cope with the crowded situation will be necessary.

Before adjourning the board unanimously passed a motion introduced by Commissioner Grant, informing the Janesville Brick company that the brick so far delivered at the new high school is not according to contract as it does not correspond in color with that selected by the board. A parcel has been made of the brick delivered and compared with the parcel of brick which the board selected. The brick now being delivered is darker.

Citizens Asked to Cooperate in New Tax System

Along with tax notices to be received by Janesville taxpayers next week each will find a little plea from City Clerk E. J. Sartell and City Treasurer W. J. Lonnarst asking for cooperation to make the new system a success.

"This is our first attempt," the state ment says, "to send out notices of amount of taxes due the city of Janesville. It duplicates the work but gives the taxpayers service. If this notice is wrong in any way whatsoever, kindly return the tax notice, with notations, to this office. Your cooperation will be more than appreciated to make our system a grand success."

The two officials with extra assistance.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

The Gazette wishes its every reader a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. In America, in Europe, in darkest Africa, in far off Asia wherever civilized man dwells these words mean much. It is the expression of the season, the language universally understood.

Perhaps they mean more than ever in 1921. There is less conflict, and more hope, less doubt and greater certainty, less dependency as to the future, more radiance on the horizon of tomorrow than in 1920.

Christmas comes inseparably connected with the entrance of Jesus, the Christ upon a world prostrate before a military autocracy, its arms and mind in chains, its feet, sodden with the dragging weight of slavery.

The world led by the United States is attempting to solve the problems that in a measure confronted the peoples 1900 years ago—the peaceful settlement of international differences and to put an end to stupid war or war instigated by greed and jealousy. "On earth peace" cried the voice to the shepherds on the night Christ was born in Bethlehem. "Peace on earth," repeats a world sobbing still with its gut of blood and still wet with the tears of warm-hearted dead sons.

Better still, then, might be the salutation on Christmas day this year, "Peace be multiplied unto you" and may another year find a civilization harmoniously striving for the betterment of all mankind.

At her demand for submarines France seems to think the dove of peace is a diving fowl.

THE CONCOMITANT OF THE SENTENCE OF EUGENE V. DEBS

When the war of the Rebellion was at an end, and all the Union armies had been disbanded except the few regulars who held posts in some of the unincorporated states; when the wounds of war were still raw and unhealed, all the rebels were given opportunity of amnesty and taken back into the fold of the Union which they had voluntarily left and against which they had borne arms. All but a few exceptions; here and there individuals like Judah P. Benjamin, who though brilliant, was none the less an uncompromising and unyielding enemy of the United States to the day of his death as a member of the British bar. He found asylum in England as did some others. These men of the South who came back into the Union were required to take the oath of allegiance because they were guilty of treason. America had no political prisoners and never had. A "political prisoner" is one who has disobeyed no law but who is considered dangerous to whomsoever may be in power and is arrested and imprisoned without warrant or trial. In America there was in 1917 a line clearly drawn by law.

It defined an enemy of the government and fixed the punishment. It was not the whim of any person but a statute determined by representatives of the people. It destroyed no man's liberty in any measure greater than a law which declares that a man in the exercise of freedom as he might interpret it, is not permitted to rob or murder.

Mr. Debs, along with some others, assumed the attitude that he and others were greater than law and greater than the people of a nation that made the law. He went about telling all persons that they should defy and disobey the law. The very integrity of the land that gave him birth was at stake. To the very things against which he had inveighed for years—the military and autocratic ascendancy of power which enslaved—he gave friendly aid and he used his voice to support that military domination, not in so many words, but by harrying the government of his native land, in telling alien men who had no advantage of living all their lives in an atmosphere of a government of sovereign citizens, that they need not heed the law but it was a duty to evade and contest it. There could possibly be no defense. He could not avoid the responsibility because of lack of knowledge. He was as much an enemy of the United States in 1918 as was the soldier conscripted from his home in Prussia stealing over No Man's land to stick a trench knife into the back of an American soldier.

So much for that side of the case. The German soldier who crawled across the field with his trench knife and survived, can come into America with freedom and fearlessly. Had he been captured and imprisoned he would have been let go. That is the other side of the case.

Demand for Debs' release has come from the same class that has less openly been of the Debs stripe. They were secretly as guilty as he. The par-

Recreation for Your Eyes

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New York—Last summer, while standing near a wire fence in the midst of a thunderstorm, a 14-year old boy was stunned by lightning. A common enough occurrence, you may think, but there was something most uncommon about this one. The boy had always had very poor vision; was nearly blind, in fact—but when he recovered consciousness after the lightning bolt and looked about for his glasses, he found he did not need them. He could see perfectly!

This case gives support to the new ophthalmology, which declares that the eye is a perfect instrument, that if we only learn to use it perfectly we can throw away our eye glasses. Myopia, hypermetropia and astigmatism are all defects caused by eyestrain, it says, and not by diseased or imperfect visual organs. They are therefore curable by proper methods of relaxation, whereas the old ophthalmology held that they were incurable being caused by imperfect apparatus, defective from birth.

According to Dr. William H. Bates, the father of the new ophthalmology, who has examined and treated the eyes of hundreds of thousands of patients at his clinic at the Harlem hospital here in New York, seeing is a passive performance, and with perfect vision there is not the least effort. It is only when we strain to see at a distance that we become myopic or near-sighted, and whenever strain to see at close quarters that we become hypermetropic or far-sighted. If we would only relax the eyes and not put forth such tremendous efforts, we would find our vision greatly improved.

But how to relax the eyes? Dr. Bates prescribes "remembering black" as one of the most effective methods. Close your eyes, put the palms of your hands across them, being careful to exert no pressure on the eyeballs, and remember black. Think of the blackest thing you know—a man's silk hat, a totally black cat or a black velvet curtain. This sound easy, but as a matter of fact it is quite the opposite. Few people can imagine perfectly without mental strain. If they could, it would not have defective vision. For one of the strange discoveries of the new ophthalmology is that if you can remember perfectly, or imagine perfectly, you can see perfectly.

Some people practise for a long time before they can remember black without at the same time thinking of other colors, and it is almost impossible to hold the image of any one black object in the mind for more than a couple of seconds. It is therefore best not to dwell upon one object but to slip from one black article to another—shoes, coat, umbrella, muffler, cat, curtain, etc. When you can remember black perfectly with your eyes closed, you must learn to do so with your eyes open. You may next be asked to remember the whiteness of snow with the sun shining on it, after which you are to look at a card of equal whiteness in order to see a very small and very black "o" or perhaps merely a period. When you look at the test card again you will doubtless be surprised to find that you can read the bottom line, which formerly was only a blur.

It is simply a matter of relaxation. The boy who was stunned by lightning had the process done for him. Dr. Bates does not know the boy and he is unable to form any definite opinion without having a complete history of the case, but it is possible, he thinks, that the lightning stroke and the boy's subsequent unconsciousness brought about a relaxed condition of the eyes which relieved them of their habitual strain and produced normal vision as if by a miracle.

Dr. Bates has written a book on the correction of imperfect vision without glasses in which he describes many patients who were able to discard their glasses in periods ranging from hours to weeks. Some felt immediate relief, others had to keep it up for two or three ten-minute periods each day over a long period. One man, who had always suffered from defective vision and who had worn glasses since he was a boy, devoted one entire day to the relaxation process, sitting quietly in a darkened room and languidly summoning a long procession of black objects to mind. At the end of the day he was amazed to find that he could see perfectly without his horn-rimmed spectacles.

"Ophthalmologists tell us that the visual organ of man was never intended for the uses to which it is now put," Dr. Bates explains in his book. "Long before there were any schools or printing presses, electric lights or moving pictures, it was complete. In those days it served the need of a human animal perfectly. Men were a hunter, a herdsman, a farmer, a fighter. If needed, we are told, mainly distant vision, and since the eye is adjusted for distant vision, sight is supposed to have been ordinarily as passive as the perception of sound, requiring no muscular action whatever."

"While primitive man appears to have suffered but little from defects of vision, it is estimated that of persons over 21 living under civilized conditions, 9 out of every 10 have imperfect sight, and as the age increases the proportion increases until at 40 it is almost impossible to find a person free from visual defects. Statistics of the army show this conclusively."

Dr. Bates examines on an average of 30,000 pairs of eyes a year at the New York Eye Infirmary and other institutions. "In this work," he says, "I noticed many cases in which errors of refraction either recovered spontaneously, or changed their form, and I was unable either to ignore them or to satisfy myself with orthodox explanations. In course of time I discovered that myopia and hypermetropia, like astigmatism, could be produced at will; that myopia was not, as we long believed, associated with the use of the eyes at the near point, but with a strain to see distant objects; strain at the near-point being associated with hypermetropia; that no error of refraction was ever a constant condition, and that the lower degrees of refractive error were curable, while higher degrees could be improved."

This new ophthalmic theory now forms the basis of the work of a number of prominent eye specialists, and at least one New York hospital has a gymnasium for the eyes. Instead of being handed crucibles in the form of glasses, the patients of this hospital are given a course in eye muscle development and relaxation, just as Indian clubs and dumb-bells are given to people in need of greater chest expansion.

For bolshevist journals, the I. W. W. papers, the nonpartisan league organs, the high brow and low brow socialist papers, the alien communal radicals—these have been insistent that he be released with a pardon. They have in no way helped his cause. There have been two sides of the question of release from prison and the president of the United States has taken one view—that Debs' action needed and justified the punishment he received, and that he was not entitled to a full pardon and a restoration to citizenship in the republic. It must not be forgotten that Debs has for 27 years been fighting established government here. He began his career in a bloody and hopeless strike in 1894. He has never had a good word to say for his native land.

It might be well to release from prison every man who was sentenced for crimes growing out of the espionage law. But when released they should be made to do what the Confederate soldiers did, take an oath of allegiance to the constitution and agree to support the flag. The British government has freed men who have borne arms against the kingdom, of men even against whom there were charges of murder, and scores of Irish prisoners have been released. There may be some Judah P. Benjamin in the lot—those the prison walls should remain. The whole world is looking to the United States as the leader in peace. It should be a leader in forgiveness of sins, as it was when it got an example to the divided peoples after the Civil War.

CHRISTMAS EVE

His Christmas Eve, and he's in bed. While here my patient watch I keep, Waiting for him to fall asleep, And oh, what thoughts race through my head.

Oh Christmas Eve long years ago When I hung up my stocking so.

Now that's his stocking hanging there In just the way that mine was hung. On Christmas Eve when I was young, But I am in my cotsy chair.

Knowing things I couldn't know In boyhood's happy long ago.

I would tonight that I might go To bed as blithe and glad as he. And have such visions come to me Of Santa driving o'er the snow.

That little chap will even hear The sound of sleigh bells tinkling clear. He'll dream of whiskers, long and white, And see the jolly saint who comes Loaded with horns and noisily drums.

And though he'll spend a restless night, Around him kindly folk will flock To let him revel in their stock.

And here I sit with tear-dimmed eyes, For somehow I have come to know Too many things that are not so: But I am old and gray and wise.

Wishing that I might still believe And share his joy on Christmas Eve.

And yet, when he shall older grow, This way or that he'll know— That where his stocking now is hung Another little boy shall go.

And hang his stocking up, and he Shall know the joy he gives to me.

I had a dream the other night, A dream that would bring pure delight To any old town bummer.

I traveled to a theater The ticket salesman said, Yes, sir, And he was really pleasant.

I got into a taxicab, The block was just one buck, He charged me only two.

I took a glass of orange juice, And it was mild and spiced, 'Twas really made of oranges, And not of prussic acid.

A beauty chorus said the sign, The old fellow here is dead, I bought a seat and sized them up, And they were quite good-looking.

I dropped a penny in the slot, And hung my hat up on a care, And when I'd finished my repast, My hat—it was still there.

My dream was shattered, as all are, 'Twas like a dream, and I was free, It was too full of happiness To last the whole night through.

A lady stood in front of me, Did I give her my street car seat? You know blame well I did.

A Russian general says he can whip Finland by jerrying his troops across, but the Russians are not alarmed, as they are a solid people and do not believe in fairy tales.

A man died the other day who could write his name equally well with his right or left hand, but even that it is said he died in the poorhouse.

Who's Who Today
 REV. FR. FRANCIS P. DUFFY
 A good part of the United States has just been helping to celebrate the Rev. Father Francis P. Duffy upon the completion of twenty-five years' service as a priest of the Roman Catholic faith.

Jews, Catholics, Protestants and plain heathens were represented at the mammoth public reception given in Father Duffy's honor in New York city on Dec. 4.

Rev. Father Duffy was born in Ontario, Canada, educated at Toronto and came thence to New York as a teacher in St. Francis Xavier's college. He continued his own education while teaching, and when he got to Troy Seminary he was marked as a man who would rise. He was ordained in September, 1896, then went to the Catholic University for a long enough to serve as a chaplain in 1898 at Montauk Point, and went to Dunwoody as a student of psychology and pedagogy.

He is a recognized authority on psychology. Cardinal Farley put him in charge of forming a new parish in the Bronx in 1912, where he served until he was made rector of Holy Cross church, New York.

Everybody knows how he served as chaplain of the Sixty-Ninth Regiment and won decorations from our own and other allied governments, and of the great reputation he made as a human exponent of religion and fighting. Whether from logic or humor, his latest explanation of how the Medal of Honor is won gets a laugh.

To win the Medal of Honor, says his reverence, "a man must be an idiot—and generally dead."

LOOKING BACKWARD
 FORTY YEARS AGO
 Dec. 24, 1881.—Six homeless wanderers were cared for at the jail last night. They are becoming quite numerous in these parts now. The Guards and Rifles are to meet in their respective armories tomorrow morning to march in full dress uniform to the Trinity church and attend services. Practically every Sunday school in the city will have a Christmas tree party tonight.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
 Dec. 24, 1891.—A forty foot flag post was erected on the cupola of the Jefferson school yesterday, and a forty-foot flag has been purchased, which will be flown on the proper occasions.—Janesville and Milwaukee are the only cities in the state that will bear the Bostonians on their tour. The famous opera company will come here January 12.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
 Dec. 24, 1901.—Due to the work of the philanthropic organizations of the city, not a person will go hungry in town tomorrow, Christmas. The Salvation Army will feed more than 200 at a big dinner, given in their rooms from 11-3, while many people have undertaken to provide a family with food and toys. The work is being done through Mary Kimball.

TEN YEARS AGO

THE ATTACK OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

No harm is done, though I am not sure that any good can be done, by the frequent rinsing of the mouth, and gargling of the throat, with a solution of as much boric acid as boiled water will dissolve, several times a day, when infantile paralysis is epidemic in the community, especially persons coming from or going to places where contact with one ill of the disease. No other known antiseptic is better than boric acid for the purpose.

I have told you how easily the feverish stage of infantile paralysis may be mistaken for "tonsillitis" or "grippe" or "just a cold." In any event the child is well treated with prolonged warm packs, if the mother knows how to give a "hot pack," or a prolonged warm bath or baths. This is good for the feverishness, good for the restlessness and tenderness of the restlessness and tenderness of the restlessness, and good for the inflammation in the spinal cord if the illness happens to be poliomyelitis.

A great many parents, saddened by a diagnosis of this cruel disease, are mistaken for "tonsillitis" or "grippe" or "just a cold." In any event the child is well treated with prolonged warm packs, if the mother knows how to give a "hot pack," or a prolonged warm bath or baths. This is good for the feverishness, good for the restlessness and tenderness of the restlessness, and good for the inflammation in the spinal cord if the illness happens to be poliomyelitis.

The general treatment of the feverish stage of infantile paralysis cannot be set down arbitrarily. It is determined by the circumstances. The physician must employ remedies to meet varying individual conditions. And the intelligent use of drugs is of great value, although no particular drug has been considered in any way specific against this disease or any other. Nor for that matter is any known human agency, remedy, or power, a certain cure of any specific disease, except in the case of a few diseases, such as Nature, spelled with a capital N, is in this war against disease, all right, but though I recognize nature as a blind frenzied, cruel, yet powerful, but healer, I feel sure the old character is not tied to any "school," "system," or scheme of healing. Nature effects the cure, we say, in a kind of homoeopathic way. Surely, we have seen, and heard, and felt, the effects of needless killings, too. A treacherous ally, nature needs constant watching by an intelligent physician. Cures come in the person of "cases," but how roughly. Nearly chokes the breath out of the child effecting the cure. Doctor gives a little medicine and relieves the attack without the

Q. Will mail carriers deliver mail on Christmas Eve?
 A. The postoffice department says that as a general rule, if a holiday comes on Sunday the mail carriers have the privilege of observing the festival on the following day, but an exception to this rule is Christmas.

Q. Is June 21 always the longest day of the year and Dec. 22 always the shortest?
 A. The naval observatory says June 21 is not always the longest day in northern latitudes, nor is Dec. 22 always the shortest. Expressing the date in accordance with the civil day of the eastern standard time zone, the longest day of 1921 and 1922 is June 22, while the shortest day of 1920 was Dec. 21.

Q. How many of the American soldiers fought in France?
 A. The war department says it has been estimated that the total number of Americans who fought in France was 1,300,000.

Q. What are the four words in the English language which end in "dun"?
 A. The four words in our language which end in "dun" are tremendous, stupendous, hazardous, and jeopardous.

Q. Who was the "Maid of Athens" of Byron's poem?
 A. It is said that the song was addressed to the daughter of Theodore Marci, a consul at Athens.

Q. Were French prisoners ever executed by drowning?
 A. During the Reign of Terror, the Revolutionary agent, Barthelemy, was executed in boats with movable bottoms. These were taken out in the River Loire and when in midstream the bottoms were opened, precipitating the condemned persons into the water.

Q. Why were leases made for 99 years?
 A. Ninety-nine years was used as an expression of time for the passing of three generations—three times 33 years.

Q. Is it not a fact that with ducks as well as geese will fly in a "V" shaped formation when moving south in the fall?
 A. The biological survey says while ducks do frequently fly in a "V" shaped formation, this is not an invariable custom.

It is high finance if you will, but it is highway robbery if the other fellow wins.

One of the oldest forms of cookery known is the making of soup. "The Plays the Things"
With the bidding finished, and the right to play the hand purchased, then—"The Play's the Thing."

The auction leader, who is the player to the left of the highest bidder, or the one who first mentioned the suit, should strive to help his partner make good his suit.

Auction the leader always has a cue for his opening lead. If his partner has made no bid, the inference is that he holds no valuable suit. If he has bid, then lead the highest of three or less and the lowest of four or more cards of his suit. If you hold the command of your partner's suit, always play it. If you hold honors in sequence, lead the highest. This is in accordance with the old rule, "Get rid of the command of your partner's suit."

Keep the command of the opponent's suit.
Against a no-trump make, the Elder hand or Leader should open with the following cards:
Lead Ace when holding—

1. Ace, Queen, Jack and others, with re-entry card.
2. Ace, King, Ten and others.
3. Ace, Queen, and five small cards.
4. Ace, Jack, and five small cards.
Lead King when holding—

1. Ace, King, Queen, and others.
2. Ace, King, Jack, and others.
3. Ace, King, Ten, and three small cards, with a re-entry card.
4. Ace, King, and five small cards.
5. King, Queen, Jack, and others.
6. King, Queen, Ten, and others.
7. King, Queen, and five small cards.

Lead Queen when holding—

Lead Jack when holding—

Jack, Ten, Nine, and others.
Lead Ten when holding—

King, Jack, Ten, and others.
In a no-trump make your long suit is in no danger of being ruffed, so each card is worth its face value, so unless it is already established, the chances for bringing it in will be increased by opening with a low card. When opening low, always lead your fourth best.

The only exception to the above in opening high card combinations is when you hold no re-entry card and have no show to make your suit. In that case, cash any trick the hand may have to save a little slam and to see Dummy's strength.

There are but few, indeed, very few, exceptions to the rule that your partner's suit be led at once. More tricks, games, and rubbers are lost by the failure to give the partner his suit than by any other single error.

Give partner his suit first. Your good suit will keep, and the Dummy's weakness will generally reveal which it is.

If possible, lead to hold the first trick. After seeing Dummy's hand you are in a position to lead against his strength.

Opening Lead Against a Declared Trump.
Quick action is given against a declared trump, as the knowledge is positive that your opponent holds strength and generally length of trump. Cash in your suit early, especially if you have length or strength of a suit.

1. With Ace, King, and others, lead the King.
2. With Ace and King, lead the Ace.
3. Lead a Singleton if short in trumps.

4. With King, Queen, and others, lead the Queen. (A suit with King, Queen, and one other is a weak opening. Better let the suit be led to you, in which case two tricks may be made from the suit.)

5. Holding low honors in sequence, lead the highest, regardless of number.
6. Lead the Ace from any suit of five or more, unless the suit includes the Queen, in which case it forms the major tenace and it is best to have the lead come to you.

7. With any two card suit, open with the high one, except in the case of Ace and Queen, or King and one other.
8. With any other combination, lead the fourth best card of your longest suit.

Second Leads.
No Trumps. If you have opened the suit from a sequence, let the second lead be the lowest card of the sequence.

When a fourth best card is led, deduct the face value of the card led from Eleven, and the remainder will be the number of trumps held by the other three players. For example: Eight is led. Eight from Eleven leaves three. There are three higher cards than Eight which are not in the leader's hand.

This rule is especially valuable in the no-trump play to the third hand player, and enables him to know. It is known as Foster's Rule of Eleven.

Second Hand Plays.
Cover an honor with an honor, if you hold a perfect or imperfect fourchette.

Holding two or more cards in sequence, play the lower or lowest.
If possible, beat Dummy's holding, for it may save high cards in your partner's hand.

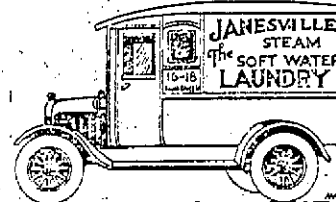

If Dummy can beat any card you hold of the suit, play low.
If you hold the ace and other cards of the suit which the Dummy leads, and trumps are against you, play your ace second in hand. If you wait, your ace may be trumped.

Never hesitate. By hesitation, information is given to the dealer and you assist him to place the strength and to find in Dummy's hand.

Third Hand Plays.
Play your highest card if you can go higher than the cards already played. If you hold cards in sequence, play the lower or lowest of the sequence.

Never guess in your partner's suit.
Questions and Answers.
Q. What is a hook?
A. The first six tricks won by a pair of partners.
Q. What is meant by Cover?

Answers to Questions

What is the purpose of the Christmas Savings Club?

The purpose is to help you and others to accumulate a fund for Christmas (1922).

How does the Christmas Savings Club accomplish this purpose?

By each member paying in a small sum each week for 50 weeks. Ten days before next Christmas (1922), each member will receive the total amount he has paid in and, if payments are made regularly, we add three per cent interest.

Does everybody pay in the same?

No. There are fifteen classes, the payments being made in different ways to suit the convenience of all. These different classes are explained in detail in the other column.

What are the payments in Class 1c?

In the 1c Class Going Up the payments begin with 1c the 1st week and increase 1c each week until you pay 50c the fiftieth week, or if you prefer you can join the 1c Class Going Down and begin with 50c and end with 1c on the fiftieth week.

Do the payments in the other classes progress in the same way?

They do. The only difference is that in 2c Classes the payments are twice as much, either Going Up or Going Down. And in 5c and 10c Classes the payments are five and ten times as much as in 1c Class.

But in the other Classes the payments are "Uniform," being 10c, 25c, 50c, $1, $2, $2.50 or $5 each week, according to the Class you join.

What do I do to become a member?

All that is necessary is to go to the Rock County Savings & Trust Co., ask to be enrolled as a member and make the first week's payment or more.

Is there a membership fee or is there any cost to join? No.

What will the first payment be?

From 1c to $5.00, according to the class you join. See detail list of payments.

How are the payments to be made?

Weekly, or any day during each week or in advance, for as many weeks as you desire.

What will happen if I cannot keep up my payments or discontinue?

You may discontinue for any reason at any time; and at the period when the club closes, we will pay you all you have paid in, but without interest.

When and how can I withdraw?

Under no circumstances will any withdrawals, either in whole or in part, be allowed. What you deposit will be held for you until Dec. 12, 1922.

What form of receipt do I get when I make my payments?

We furnish a Card free on which all payments are receipted.

What would happen if my Card were lost, stolen or destroyed?

As we have a complete record of the payments of every member we will pay your share to you whether you have your Card or not. The Card is of value to you only for the purpose of keeping track of your payments.

Can I become a member of more than one class? Yes.

When can I join?

You can join any time now or before 3 p. m. Tuesday, January 31, but preferably during the first week to avoid the rush on the last few days.

MARCHING LEGION

President Wilson stepped upon the field of battle in 1918, the 13th field artillery of the 38th division, A. C. P., stood guard. Among the men who performed that signal duty was Private First Class Louis Shea, now captain of the Richard Ellis post of the legion.

Shea entered the service June 15, 1918, going to the second motor school at the University of Wisconsin. Two months later, he was assigned to the 108th T. A. at Camp Shelby, Miss. Sept. 10, 1918, he started for France via Camp Upton, L. I., embarking from New York harbor Oct. 6 and reaching Liverpool Oct. 17.

His outfit rested at Camp Chorbord and from there went to Cherbourg, France, by way of Southampton. After ate mapped out and will present it at this time.

The final meeting of the year will be held at the Y. M. C. A. The time is 6 p. m.

A banquet will be in order. Carl M. Yost, chairman of the entertainment committee, has worked up an excellent program. He promises a great night of fun. Good music will be provided besides a number of other attractions.

SHEEHAN IS COMING

During the week, the Richard Ellis post booked Robert F. Sheehan, "Folios of 1921" to run it here the last part of January or the first part of February. It is a home talent show of the highest quality. With its $4,200 in scenery and costumes, the production should put the local post on the map.

Mr. Sheehan, the author and producer, will appear at the legion meeting next Tuesday night. He will put the first stone in pushing the show over the top. Sheehan is a live wire with a wonderful personality and will sell himself with satisfaction to every member of the post.

The next Tuesday's meeting is the last under the present officers. It is expected to be the best of the year.

BLIND AND NEEDY

William Cichowski, blind, before the war was normal and happy. He was the only support of aged parents. Some say he is the victim of the red tape of the Federal war risk bureau. His story is graphic. The government pays him $11.50 a month.

Prior to the World War, he was employed in a button factory at La Crosse and lived in a neat little home with his old folks. He entered the army at the outbreak of the war and was made an instructor in gas and machine gunnery at Camp Hancock, Ga.

More than a year after his discharge, Cichowski complained of stomach trouble and his sight began to fail. Suffering terribly, he sought government aid and was operated upon for ulcers of the stomach, but his sight was not restored. After recovering from the operation, "Bill" was sent to Janesville, where he attended the school for the blind and learned reed weaving. He returned to La Crosse and started teaching other blind men the art of weaving at a hospital there. Six men, former soldiers, formed his class. They are making sewing baskets, lamps and trays. Soon they will hold a sale.

Cichowski had a $10,000 war risk insurance policy, but it was cut down to $3,000. By some mistake, he was credited with only $2,000. He should be receiving compensation on the basis of $2,000 or $17.25 monthly, but he is getting only $11.50.

The veterans' bureau has ruled that Cichowski's disability is not a result of army service and that he therefore is not entitled to compensation. They ruled that he is not entitled to further hospitalization, which means that the government has cut off all allowance for hospital care and treatment.

The American legion and Red Cross are getting affidavits of his case in an effort to aid him.

SERVICE STAR LEGION

Mrs. Fred Ellis has received a slip of Ivy from the Argonne Forest through the kindness of Mrs. Vanderlip of New York.

Edward Amerpohl has donated the Christmas tree for the Service Star legion which will be placed in Corn Exchange.

The Service Star legion held a bazaar last week to raise money to add to a fund for a memorial building.

Richland Center, Wis., has organized a women's auxiliary to the American legion with 50 charter members.

One of the members of the Service Star legion visited an ex-service man in the jail during the past week, offering aid.

MONROE ELECTIONS

The Glenn Zilmer post of the American legion, Monroe, has elected the following officers:

Commander, Robert Blumery; vice-commander, Henry Kundert, Jr.; historian, Ivan Swandahl; finance officer, H. C. Roth; adjutant, E. G. Schuller; chaplain, Delbert L. Cook; sergeant at arms, Max Voelck; color sergeant, Charles Mann; executive committee, Frank M. Haron, Robert L. Rota, Peter S. Solomon, Dr. L. A. Moore.

The Green county post will conduct a novel membership campaign. The slogan is "Every member get a member by the January meeting or pay $1." The post has booked the Americanization picture, "The Man Without a Country."

MONTICELLO ELECTIONS

Officers of the Monticello legion post have been chosen as follows:

Commander, E. W. Foster; vice-commander, Dr. H. J. Horne; finance officer, Otto J. Keller; historian, John S. Richards; chaplain, R. W. Woolf; sergeant at arms, Samuel Amstutz; service officer, Dr. J. P. Zentner; athletic officer, R. H. Schoenover.

MAIL GUARDS, PICK OF U. S. MARINES

Capt. Bleasdale, Janesville, Heads Squad of Seasoned Vets at St. Louis.

United States marines guarding the mails are picked veterans, qualified marksmen capable of handling either the army rifle or .45 caliber automatic revolver they are armed with, selected because they can shoot to kill. Their orders are not to surrender under any circumstances, no matter if mail bandits have the "drop" on them.

Captain Victor W. Bleasdale, Janesville, is in command of the 115th marines detached to guard the mails in and out of St. Louis.

A press clipping from St. Louis shows the type of marines placed on the mail guarding duty to stop the plundering of the mail trains and theft of registered mail which became a menace to the post office department. Until recently Captain Bleasdale was commanding the 77th company, 6th regiment of marines at Quantico, Va., the training center for the marine corps held ready for expeditionary service.

"With such marines as these guarding the mails it is believed bandits contemplating robbing the mails will think twice before coming to face the picked men of tested courage and ability to shoot straight under fire," comments the St. Louis paper.

A few of the marines on duty in St. Louis with Captain Bleasdale and their records are noted in the press. Including Sergeant W. H. Lee, veteran of 12 attacks in France, who wears the D. S. C., Navy Medal, Croix de Guerre and Victory medal with six clasps; Corporal John Casey, D. S. C. and Navy cross; Private A. J. Smith, who served in the British and American marines and took part in "32 victorious battles—but cannot remember how many defeats in which he was engaged, they were too numerous to mention"—who wears six medals; Sergeant C. N. Burns, twice cited; Corporal Robert Langdon, noted hero; and First Sergeant David G. Matler.

ELKHORN LEGION WILL HAVE A GOOD TIME TUESDAY

Elkhorn—The American Legion, Harry Kelly post, holds its annual meeting, Tuesday night, December 27, at which time a supper will be given. A 48 pound pig was killed, to serve as the principal dish of the evening, when it will be placed, stuffed, upon the table, with marble eyes, and a large apple in its mouth. An elaborate menu will be served, by cooks Monsieur O'Reilly, Basil Harkness, Claudius Barnes, Monsieur De Vex.

The local post of the legion is noted throughout the state for its initiative. Its initiations are unique, and its pushing power is easily seen, the three day carnival at "Armistice" time is evidence of that. Under the leadership of Will Foster, local commandant, the post is growing, the membership at the present time being 75. The attendance at the meetings is almost 100 per cent at all times. Plans are being made to stage an eight act vaudeville next month.

Fred Pabst Elected Head of Corporation

Milwaukee—Fred Pabst was elected president of the Pabst corporation, formerly the Pabst Brewery, at a meeting here Friday. The election came as a result of the sale of the controlling interest in the firm by Col. Gustave Pabst and Henry Danischewsky. The company will continue to make malt syrup and cereal beverages. It was announced, and will produce some recently patented machinery.

RUSSIAN PRIESTS IN PRISON FOR FRAUD; TRIAL IS SENSATION

Veroneh, Russia—Six "miracle men" have come to grief in this province and are now serving six months at hard labor. The men, all priests of the Russian Orthodox church, were convicted of defrauding parishioners by having old icons (or images) renovated and representing that they were renewed by miracle and consequently possessed divine powers.

The priests were tried at a sensational hearing in the opera house which lasted more than a week. Archbishop Tikhon was one witness and de-aged icons could not be renewed by miracle. Theologians, occultists and alienists also testified.

It was the practice of priests in Russia to rent out icons which are supposed to have special powers. These are frequently carried into sick rooms, to funerals, weddings and christenings.

CHIROPRACTIC

WHAT IT IS

THE MOST WONDERFUL SCIENCE EVER PLACED BEFORE MAN, CHIROPRACTIC is a combination of Greek words meaning "to do by hand"—hand practice, pronounced KIRO-PRAK-TIK.

It is the science of locating the CAUSE of disease in the body and the adjustment of the CAUSE. It is not the treatment of the disease—disease is an effect—disease and its cause are two entirely different things.

The brain is the dynamo of the body, producing the life current. The spinal cord and nerves convey this life current to all parts of the body, and HEALTH is the result. Disease is the result of obstructing the transmission of this current, creating abnormal conditions, and is due to varying degrees of pressure upon nerves at their exits between the vertebrae and the spinal column.

By ADJUSTING the vertebrae the pressure on the nerves is relieved and NATURE CURES YOU IN HER OWN WAY. The Chiropractor is not a medical man; he uses NO DRUGS NOR INSTRUMENTS, practices NO SURGERY, NO MASSAGING, NO OSTEOPATHY. He ADJUSTS THE VERTEBRAE OF THE SPINE, removing the cause of disease.

CHIROPRACTIC vs. CATARRH

There is a saying: "that once you get catarrh there is no escape from it."

This is not necessarily true. Catarrh is an incoordination of the membrane affected. Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments will reach and remove catarrh quicker than other method.

Catarrh is of many forms. Most people have it in some one or more of its forms.

The most common type of this ailment involves the nose and throat, and is known as systematic catarrhal condition which may involve the nose and throat, but has also become a chronic condition of the stomach, duodenum, bowels, kidneys, and bladder. Other pelvic organs are involved in female cases.

This condition interferes with digestion and assimilation of food. It deranges the secretion of gastric juice, bile, pancreatic juice and intestinal juices. It more or less interferes with the urinary functions. Most exasperating and stubborn cases of female disease are also dependent on systematic catarrh.

If you are a victim of this dread malady, let the Chiropractor prove himself able to relieve your suffering and bring back a normal condition of tissue.

PAWNEE AND SIOUX

Former Wisconsin Man Tells Story of Last Battle Between Savage Tribes; Views Bloody Field After Slaughter.

The early settler of Rock county and Southern Wisconsin was a pioneer by profession. It was natural then when the state began to be thickly populated that many should go west once more. Scores of families emigrated to Nebraska. The story told here by C. L. Woolworth of Nortonville, Kansas is of the last fight between the Pawnees, once a warlike tribe and the Sioux. The seven men who are mentioned in this story were all, except one, from the town of Albion, Dane county, just over the line from Rock. They went to Nebraska in 1871 and 1872. Mr. Woolworth has been visiting at the home of A. L. Whitford, three miles from Milton Junction on the Rock River road.

By C. L. WOOLWORTH
"Twice a son of man, sublimely grand,
And none did view could understand."

Perhaps some will remember the fight between the Sioux and Pawnees in the fall of 1876, near the Republican river, and not far from the place where now stands the city of McCook, Neb. This trouble between the tribes started over stealing ponies from one another. At the time of the fight, the daily papers were filled with conflicting accounts of the battle. We were very anxious to go on a buffalo hunt, and about six weeks after the battle a party of seven took two teams, covered wagons, a tent, and enough supplies to last us as long as we could to the west of our party was an old hunter and teamster, who had been stopping in our town, Orleans, Neb. As he had been to the battlefield before, he was our guide.

Our first day out, we went about 10 miles and camped on the river bottom, south of Arapahoe, Neb. Nothing eventful had happened on our way. We had met many bands of hunters, some of whom had been to the battlefield. They showed us relics which they were taking home with them. We saw that one hunter had covered his long cabin with the raw-buffalo hides taken from the battle field. The third day out, our guide said we would soon come to a trail that led to the battlefield. We had gone only a short distance before we found the trail. Then, winding our way across the divide, we came to the head of the very canyon in which the fight took place.

On either side of the draw, there were small pockets leading into the large one. It was there that Whittier's band of Sioux Red Devils showed their devilishness and cunning by leading the almost defenseless Pawnees into a death trap. The Pawnees were on their annual hunt, and had their pack horses well loaded with meat and hides. As we could find out there were about 500 Pawnees, counting the squaws and children. There were fully as many of Whittier's band, which was armed with the best army guns. The slaughter began at the head of the canyon. First we came to the place where the Pawnees were surrounded. This had happened early in the morning. Their ponies were loaded with meat and hides, but they had to cut them loose to save their own lives. This baggage was left on the battlefield.

Count Pawnee Dead.
As we went down the canyon we could count the dead. The Pawnee had tried to make a stand to protect their squaws. It was said that the Pawnees lost about 100 and were unable to take their dead with them. The Sioux lost not more than a dozen, and carried their dead away. In one little pocket we counted 11 lying dead in a pool of dried blood. As the day went on, the bodies were so small we could not endure to look at them. So, gathering up some relics, we went where we could breathe again. After leaving the battlefield, we went over to Kansas, because we could see that the buffalo were drifting south. We found a good place to camp where there was plenty of wood and water. After fixing up our camp, and getting supper, we were ready to turn in for the night.

I could not sleep well, because I was too nervous to rest after seeing such a terrible sight. Upon looking out of the tent, I saw our guide sitting by the camp fire, smoking his pipe. I said "Are you going to sit up all night?" He answered, "Come on. I want to talk to you." Then he put more wood on the fire.

Was Former Soldier.
As we sat talking over the battle, I asked him what that paper was, which he picked up from beside one of the dead Pawnees. He replied that he did not know, and taking it out of a little box, said "That is my charon box, and I am going to keep it as long as I live."

I took the paper, but it was so weather beaten I could not make out all the reading on it. However, it was legible to a degree, so that I could see that it was an honorable discharge from the army. I found that the Indian had enlisted and gave the place and date also where he was discharged, and that his name was "Glen and spartan." I went to look the paper, but the guide put it back in the box and said "Isn't it a shame and pity that after being a good soldier and having fought for his country he should suffer such a cruel death?" Little did he or I think as he spoke these words that he would suffer even a more cruel death and very soon.

He had a cowboy friend in Abeline, Kan., who, after the roundup of the Texas cattle, was coming to meet him and that they would follow the buffalo for a while, and then go to Arkansas to see his brother living in the Ozarks. I asked him if he were sure the cowboy would be a true friend. "Yes," he said, "all cowboys are a little wild." During all the time we were talking—

"We could see the camp fire
"Glen and spartan,
"And hear the coyotes
"Howl and bark."

See Straggling Herd
We were up early in the morning and, after going southwest, we saw a few straggling buffalo. After a hard chase, we got one. Then, thinking we would have to go too far for a load of meat, we took a back track for home.

Sometime after that, I saw our guide. He said he was getting ready to go south on another hunt. One cold day two hunters drove up to the livery barn and said that up on the Smoky Hill river, they saw wagon tracks in the snow, and beside the trail there was a sad mound.

Some years ago, on the way from Chicago to Kansas City, the car being crowded with men took a seat with me. As we became engaged in conversation he asked where I lived. I told him in Kansas. He was on his way home in Arkansas. I told him I had lived in western Nebraska a long time before. He said he used to know an old man in his neighborhood who had a brother out on the range, and that he was coming back to live with him. I asked him "Do you remember if he ever came back?" No, he answered, "He never came." As he said that a strange feeling came over me, and I did not care to say more about it, either so many years.

As I think of those happy hunting grounds, I can truly say that they were not always happy, because the hardships we had to endure were many. Now the years come and go. The onward march of civilization keeps on apace, and the countless herds of buffalo that once roamed those plains are gone forever. Even now, on this bleak and windy day, in my memory I can hear the wind sigh and moan over that sad mound; and to him who sleeps below, I will say—
"Rest on in peaceful slumber,
"The days are passing fast—
"The days we cannot number
"Are the ashes of the past."

World Watches Latest Society 'Blood Transfusion Experiment'

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
French Lick, Ind., (Special)—The recently proclaimed theory that it is good for the heart of society which spells itself in capitals to go out to the plain people and take on new blood is to get its crucial test. Herbert M. Harriman, millionaire banker of New York city, is preparing to take a world-wide honeymoon journey with a pretty Irish bride.

And in the exclusive circles of New York society, where the light to be included in the season's dinner invitation list is the chief end of many every woman gossip is speculating upon how the truly elect will behave toward the bride when she returns. For it is the first critical test of blood transfusion—a process, but lately championed by the eugenic authorities as the best possible safeguard for higher society—that invites a woman as the individual under the limelight.

The doctrine laid down by the doctors was based on the marriage of society women to policemen, horsemen and chauffeurs. But the application of the principle to taking a woman of the "just-folks" kind into the intimacy of the elect was not included in the eugenic dogma with which all the moneyed aristocracy had just been entertained. And just how the pampered darlings will receive the young woman is one of the questions that is shaking all of the legions which are just now flocking to town for the opening of the winter season.

Maybe they will take the leadership of sweet-faced Mrs. Oliver Harriman, sister-in-law to the banker, and one of the recognized leaders of all that is proper. And she has taken the young woman to her arms with approval, and smiled upon the union.

An Irish Beauty

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hunter of New York, and is described as a blond of the Irish type of beauty, about twenty-seven years old, of culture and education. Her husband is forty-six. She was born in Belfast, and came to New York when only sixteen with her sister, Miss Archibald Hunter, who is now Mrs. William Thompson. Later her parents brought the entire family over. She has two brothers and two sisters. For a time her father was employed by the Metropolitan Railway Company in New York.

Mr. Harriman is a son of the late Oliver Harriman and a cousin of the late E. J. Harriman. His sisters, besides Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., are Mrs. Stephen Olin and Mrs. Frederick C. Havemeyer.

Harriman is a member of the Brook, the Meadow Brook, Turf and Field and the Polo Rock clubs. He is one of the stockholders in the famous Newport Casino. He had been married twice, both times within the limits of the set which requires no introduction to those who would mate.

Two Other Wives
When he married Alice Harriman she was the toast of the season as the prettiest and wealthiest girl of the whole period.

But it was not for long. Miss May Brady, the daughter of the late May Brady of Baltimore, came over the spirit of his dreams and became Mrs. Harriman No. 2. She also had recourse to the divorce court.

Such was his status when the World war came and the millionaire answered the call to arms, taking the training camp route to a commission as major of field artillery. Among those who found their way to the hospitals and the camps was Miss Sally Hunter, a trained nurse.

She was Irish. She was pretty, with the fresh, healthy beauty that is the heritage of the Irish maid. Major Harriman fell ill at Camp Caytor, where his regiment was stationed. Into the camp hospital came Miss Hunter, the nurse. She nursed the officer through a severe case of influenza and he was much attracted by her grace and many womanly attributes. The warmest friendship developed. But the regiment was ordered overseas and he went away with his command. He came back to civil life, to the ban and to society. She returned to the task of nursing those who fall ill in the ordinary prosaic way, and their two worlds seemed as far apart as the poles. Then Harriman fell ill again. This time another nurse appeared on the scene, and the temperature was taken by one who was a stranger. It was inconvenient for the first nurse to serve as the banker's angel, and when the nurse asked for relief and a substitute was sent, who do you suppose appeared in uniform, cap and the full regalia of the ward?

Why, Miss Sally Hunter, of course. Harriman, out of the danger of illness, was head over ears in love. He proposed. Miss Hunter accepted.

Christmas

Nineteen Twenty One

Christmas is the day of good will. Its message of the heart is not confined to sect, or creed, or caste. It is the best that is in us all, made real. It is a time of greeting; of friendliness. It is the helping hand, the mind's eye, the heart's throb. With Christmas we lay aside our cares to lift up our voices. Thousands of years ago men knew it as today we know it, maybe by another name; only we know it in greater measure, as those who come after us will live it in still greater praise.

Christmas is a time for the forgetting of self and selfishness. It is born, and it lives and passes on in twenty-four short hours; a modest toll to lift out of the busy life of months for the taking of courage from despair.

Christmas shrives and makes us clean; it is a halcyon day; it is the crown of all the year.

As a holiday it bids us to merriment that does not mar or scarify; as a holy day it bids us rejoice; soberly, wisely, to rejoice. Today and all next year we who live in freedom and safety in this land America are called by a transcendent duty; that duty is to dedicate more of our will, more of our upward reach, to the strengthening of the moral fibre of society in excess of what has up to this time in the one hundred and forty-five years of our Mother Country, engaged our sense of responsibility and citizenship.

Prepared for, we shall not fall at Armageddon, nor live devote to shame and infamy.

Conscious of our social and commercial obligations we may wholeheartedly pledge our unshirking acceptance of them and give All Hail! to this Christmas Day, nineteen hundred and twenty-one.

HINTS FOR THE MOTORIST

ALBERT L. CLOUGH

Copyright, 1921, by the International Syndicate
When Light Grease Will "Stand Alone"

DON'T BE SURPRISED if on one of these cold mornings you have difficulty in shifting the gears of your car. If you took off the gear-case cover you would most likely find the lubricant of about the consistency of butter just out of the refrigerator and it takes some force to move large gears through such semi-solid material. The remedy is to put a quantity of light oil into the case, run the car a little and see if the "dope" is then thin enough to just flow out of the draw-off, when it is thoroughly cooled. If it will, draw off any excess there may be, and there should be no more of this kind of trouble. Should you notice an unusual humming noise from the rear end, it may be ascribed to the same cause—solidified lubricant. The compound which you put into the rear axle-housing in June was probably suitable for use then, but it is now "out of season" and the same oil treating treatment should be applied or the differential bearings and the gears will suffer damage. The rear end does not even benefit from engine heat as does the transmission and it is wise to thin its lubricant, so that it will flow, as soon as cold weather arrives and not to wait for the danger signal of dry and grinding gears.

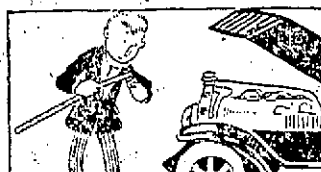

GLYCERINE NON-FREEZING MIXTURES

J. W. H. asks: In what proportion should glycerine and alcohol be mixed with water to make a suitable anti-freeze solution, or is it better to use alcohol and water only?

Answer: It was formerly quite common practice to use a mixture of equal parts alcohol and glycerine, added to the cooling water; a solution containing 30% of this glycerine-alcohol mixture, being used in the S. A. E. handbook as having a freezing point of 5 degrees below zero F., or lower. During the war and since, the price of glycerine has been so high as to discourage the use of large quantities of it and it has become customary to use it in smaller proportions for the purpose of increasing the viscosity of the solution, lowering the boiling point and reducing alcohol evaporation. For instance, the following mixture is recommended by one of the best-known auto manufacturers as having a freezing point of minus 8 degrees. Sixty per cent. water, 10% glycerine and 30% denatured alcohol.

FITTING PISTON-RINGS

H. B. S. asks: How tight should piston rings be fitted?

Answer: The ring should be perfectly free in its groove, what may be called an easy but not a loose fit, and this should be the case throughout its full length. As a ring runs, however, than the cylinder and expands more, there should be sufficient clearance allowed, when it is placed in the cylinder, cold, to permit of its increasing in length, under hot conditions, without its ends quite coming into contact. In the case of a lap-joint ring for a four-inch cylinder an end clearance of about 0.02 inch is usually allowed, and for other sizes the clearance should be in proportion to the bore. By inserting a ring in the end of the cylinder bore and using a suitable metal feeler, the gap clearance can be measured and, if it is insufficient, the ends of the ring can be filed off the required amount.

TESTING VALVE SEATINGS

H. B. S. asks: How can one tell when the valves of an auto engine are sufficiently ground? What procedure should be taken to prevent the grinding compound from getting into the cylinders?

Answer: The following is a good test for a perfect seat: With a lead pencil make a close succession of lines straight across the valve face, all the way around. Clean the valve seat thoroughly, place the valve in position and rotate it on its seat under a moderate pressure, a very small fraction of a turn—not more than a sixteenth. Then remove the valve, examine the pencil lines and, if all of them are blurred, a continuous seat is indicated. The width of the seating is indicated by the breadth of the blurred or erased portions of the lines. The spaces under the valve-seats should be stuffed with clean waste before grinding is done, to exclude abrasive and all grinding compound should be most carefully wiped off the parts, before they are replaced.

Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

BARTER AND SALE IN NORTH DAKOTA

Fred Sheldon, Back From Fargo, Talks of Non-Partisan League.

That the state of North Dakota will come back from the disastrous effects of the non-partisan league rule is the opinion of Fred Sheldon, Janesville, who recently returned from a trip through the northern prairie states. Utopia has left North Dakota in most part, without credit and resorting back to the old methods of the exchange of farm produce for finished merchandise.

Feeling Runs High
"The feeling in North Dakota is extremely strong with every person taking sides one way or the other," says Mr. Sheldon. "The sad part of it all is that the farmer had to pay the bill, to pay for the costly experiments in state socialism and the state is milked dry."

"I was alone the non-partisan leagues for all the socialists of rank and order and grafters flooded the state with faithful 'isms' to try on the farmer. The pendulum swung too far and the reactionaries are in control now, combined with the fact the politicians reaped a rich harvest of the farmers' most of the state, especially in the western section, had poor crops. Now these farmers are bartering with what they have to sell and I know of many who per cent interest was charged for credit. They are in a deplorable state but the state is rich in farms and will come back in time."

Danger Is Seen
"The danger is that the administration now in power will go to the opposite extreme with even further and more government policies and methods to pull the state out of the hole and unite the people. The danger is not quitting and it is going to be a fight for control."

"We do not appreciate how well off and how great we are with our farms and farmers of Rock county." Organization of farmers on same policies for better marketing and farm work was held necessary by Mr. Sheldon. "Why shouldn't our farmers organize, it is the only way they will ever get anywhere, providing their organization is not along the non-partisan league policies to drag the state down as it was in North Dakota."

POODLE IS REGULAR CANDY CUSTOMER

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A local pharmacist has for a regular customer a small poodle dog. He slips in each afternoon usually about three o'clock goes to the Candy Counter and gives a penny from his mouth, covers it with his foot and then backs until a clerk comes up and gives him a piece of candy. When the candy in his mouth, he removes his foot from the penny and hurries out of the store.

SANTA OUSTED FROM ZION BY WILBUR G.

Chicago—Children of Zion, Ill., home of Wilbur Glenn Voliva's Catholic Apostolic church will sleep peacefully Saturday night, with no thought of lying awake in hope of hearing reindeers on the roof or Santa Claus coming down the chimney.

For Voliva has issued a decree abolishing Santa Claus. The Kris Kringle myth has gone the way of the law of gravitation, Voliva says. They don't exist.

Zion children, however, will not lack Christmas toys. The same decree which consigned the patron saint of Christmas to the limbo of forgotten things also ordered that forgotten things also ordered that every child receive appropriate gifts. Only they are to be told the gifts are sent down from "above" to be distributed by fathers and mothers. Parents too poor to buy toys were instructed to notify Voliva's headquarters and their needs would be supplied.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Local sea-faring men, members of marine workers' unions, have addressed a communication to J. J. Logan, president of the American Shipping corporation asking that they be sent to sea on vessels at half of the current wage scale in cash and the other half in stock of the corporation.

The petition, signed by masters, mates, engineers, stewards and seamen stated they were prepared to furnish crews of American citizens for 10 ships.

The head of the corporation is known to have favored and discussed the same plan for manning the vessels.

THE BUSINESS OF FARMING—LIVE STOCK—DAIRY—FARM BUREAU

BETTER MARKETING SOUGHT ON FARMS

Farmer Suspicion One Draw-Back to Success of "Co-Op" Plans.

BY LEWIS C. FRENCH
As a great class of people, farmers undoubtedly find much in their selection and experience to promote an almost inherent feeling of suspicion.
This feeling was taken from a recent book of Theodore Macklin, who has spoken at Farm Bureau meetings in Rock county several times, and who is an authority of marketing of farm products. The exhibition of suspicion, it is frequently cause their failure. If there are two ways of marketing, one by cheap prices, of just unloading on the market for the first offer that looks good and the other, which is increasing, it is to be in time to raise better goods, grading and then holding until the demand makes the price favorable, thereby feeding the market instead of glutting it.
Cannot Limit Production
Thinking farmers know that it is senseless to talk of limiting farm production. It cannot be done. If 2,000 farmers would join in a movement to cut down tobacco acreage one half in Rock county so as to force up price through a limited supply, it is a safe bet that other thousands and a part of the 2,000 would go home and put in a few extra acres hoping to take advantage of the increased price. If the farmers would agree to reduce their dairy herds and limit the milk supply the other half would increase their herds just that much more.
There may be truth to "farmer suspicion"—which is many times justified by the facts—but it is also true that Southern Wisconsin farmers are thinking more of cooperation and coordination of efforts. There are nearly 4,000 farmers in Rock county, all raising about the same produce. It is a mighty big business in the hands of one and every farmer has one main objective—good markets.
"Co-op" Marketing
There is going to be a time when the products of Rock county will be marketed more intelligently and with more profit than under the present system. But it will never come until the majority of the farmers get over the suspicion that their neighbor is "doing him dirt." All farmers have mutual problems, which all can help solve.
Every buyer wants to buy as cheap as possible. In that respect the farmer is no different from any other business man. The peculiar difference between the so-called middleman is that he wants to buy from the farmer at the minimum price and sell at the maximum. That is where the rub comes in for the farmer. He is to be sold away with the service of the middleman, those who handle the produce from the time it leaves the farm until it reaches the consumer. There are certain necessary services to be given and generally speaking, too many people are attempting to render the middleman's service. As a consequence the entire volume of business is so divided that it is inefficient and costly, without bringing profit to the farmer and still costing the consumer more.
Farmers Market Goods
The growing movement to market cooperatively is not doing away with the middleman, except in the sense that farmers themselves or their agents are doing the work that has been done before by hundreds of middlemen or commission agents. Farmers are learning that they can do the work in a mass volume at less cost than the private individuals and make money.
Consequently witness the growth of the livestock shipping associations, the grain growers' association, the Wisconsin Cheese federation and other federations. These organizations seek to lengthen the control of the farmer on his produce beyond the harvest time.
The great truth about marketing, according to experts who have studied the situation thoroughly, is that the American farmer is making a mistake of

Outline Policies Sought by Farm Bureau for Great National Benefit

What does the Farm Bureau really want? What does the biggest farm organization seek to be of practical help to all farmers in a neighborly way and what are the results?
During the third annual convention of the Bureau the accomplishments of the national federation were reviewed.
It is sought to strengthen and coordinate the work of the state Farm Bureaus, to encourage and promote cooperation of all representative agricultural organizations in every effort to improve production, conservation, marketing, transportation and distribution of farm products. The national organization has accomplished agriculture legislation aims to determine the nation-wide policies for better farming.
Results are slower in coming because of the general complex business situation but they are becoming more and more apparent. The policies and views of the American Farm Bureau are as follows:
Reorganize Department—We urge, in the contemplated reorganization of the Federal Department of Agriculture, that the present effectiveness and services of the department of agriculture be in no wise lessened. We ask on the other hand, that the Department be further developed to the extent that it may serve even better those whom it is intended to help, in order that the business of agriculture may be put on a par with the other business interests of the nation.
Tariff—We request of Congress the enactment of tariff legislation at once which will give to the farmers of America that measure of protection that may be necessary to equalize the difference between the costs of production of farm products in this country and in competing nations.
Taxation Problems
Tax—We heartily endorse the following principles as the foundation of our national tax policy: 1. The measure of ability to pay taxes should be the National Income, and the Government is "NET INCOME," and the bulk of the taxes should be levied on the expansion and reduction of credit, not with a view of private gain, but in such a way as to protect the interest of all citizens and secure and promote the public welfare.
Legislation Sought
Cooperative Marketing—We insist upon the early enactment of laws clearly defining the right of farmers to market their products cooperatively.
Public Roads and Commissions—We urge that appointment on all public roads and commissions be so made that the interests of agriculture may be protected and conserved.
Truth in Fabrics—We ask Congress to enact truth-in-fabric legislation.
Filled Milk—In order to prevent adulteration of milk, we ask the repeal of Section 16-A, which permits the manufacture of filled milk. We insist that the manufacture and sale of filled milk products be forbidden by law.
Transportation—We denounce the principle of guaranteeing income upon fixed valuation to the railroads of the United States and ask the repeal of Section 16-A, which permits the manufacture of filled milk. We insist that the manufacture and sale of filled milk products be forbidden by law.
Waterways and other inland waterway projects which will make possible our inland transportation to many of our inland products, and the construction of the full rights of the National Waterways Commission as they existed prior to the war.
Public Resources—We urge the conservation of all kinds of conserved and reserved to the end that special interests may not exploit them for private gain, but that the public resources be put to the benefit of their development.
Pittsburgh Plus—We condemn the Pittsburgh Plus principle, which adds a fictitious freight rate to the price of steel and other commodities, and we urge the correction of this abuse.
Substitutes and Containers—In preventing abuses in the sale of substitutes and the use of deceptive containers, we ask a measure of such legislation as will correct these evils.
Arms Reduction
Bovine Tuberculosis—We urge the immediate passage of Federal legislation appropriating sufficient funds for the continuation of the work of eradicating bovine tuberculosis.
Foreign Finance—We urge Congress, without delay, to enact into law the export credit feature of the so-called "Farmers Relief Bill," providing that the War Finance Corporation be empowered to make advances to foreign purchasers of our surplus agricultural products—no money so advanced to be expended outside of the United States and every such advance to be secured by adequate security.
Organization Cooperation With Us—We invite all other farm organizations to cooperate with us to the fullest extent in our efforts to safeguard farm interests.
Arms Reduction: Offering a heartfelt prayer that the peoples of the earth may never again engage in wars or experience the horrors attendant thereon, we pledge to our government and its representatives at the Arms Limitation Conference our utmost support to the end that armed conflict between nations may be forever abolished from the face of the earth.
A new stock of Prayer Books, Bibles, and other religious articles for Christmas Gifts on sale at St. Joseph's Convent.

Questions Asked by Chicago Milk Company

Blanks have been sent out by the Chicago milk marketing company to determine the attitude of farmers on spread charges and other pressing business before the cooperative concern.

"All auditing shows that the marketing company is good for over a dollar it owes, but the assets are in the business and cannot be realized on so long as the company is in operation," reads a part of the statement sent to many Rock county farmers.
Six questions are asked on the policy to be pursued for the liquidation of marketing company debts. The letters were sent out by the advisory committee composed of Adam Weaver, M. E. McDonough, W. T. Greene, George Kaller, A. P. Marek and C. Larsen.

Holstein Sets New Butter Fat Record

Williamsport, Pa.—Harry Gates of Crestmont, farms near Canton, Wednesday claimed ownership of the world's champion butter fat producing cow, saying his Crestmont Duchess Ormsby, a 3 year old Holstein Tuesday completed tests covering 30 days in which period she produced 23 pounds of butter fat. Gates said the record had been held by Fleeter Mutual Forbes, owned by Thomas J. Owen of Kirkland, Washington.

Newark Club Will Tour Rock County

Members of the Newark Rural Advancement club will tour Rock county next year instead of a neighboring county. Each year this farm club makes an automobile trip to tour some farm and last year made a trip through Jefferson county.
"I believe we should see our own county," stated Robert Cole. "Some of our farmers have never seen the Rock county farm."
It is planned to visit the county farm and also the farm of Clarence Croft and E. H. Parker, for inspecting Duroc and other hogs. The Harvey Little farm for milking Shorthorns, the Robinson farm for Herefords and the Miles' farm for sheep.
Last year more than 200 from the southwestern township made the trip.

Officers Are Named For Test Association

Harry Droughton, Albany, was elected president of the Footville-Evansville cow testing association during a meeting held in Magnolia. The other officers are: Harvey Little.

CHRISTMAS!

Is there a season of the year that means more to the hearts of old and young alike than Christmas time!

To the young folks it is the one day of all the year toward which their thoughts turn most gladly and eagerly.

To grown-ups it is the time for the homecoming—the reunion and renewing of home ties and friendships.

To all in the circle of our acquaintance and friendships we, too, would extend our sincere wishes for a happy Christmas.

The Rock County Farm Bureau Extends Christmas Greetings

The farmer produces the food to feed the world without knowing what his returns are going to be.

We want more good will among farmers. To have better spirit between the farmers and closely allied business interests for we want a more fair deal to our farmers in the county.

Let us hope and work for a more prosperous year for Rock county farmers in 1922. That prosperity is due to the farmers and without it, business cannot thrive. The farmer feels that he is paying too much for his general merchandise in comparison with what he receives for his produce that he has worked and risked to produce.

The Rock County Farm Bureau has a program of work, progressive work, constructive work for the county. Success means more prosperity for all the county. Consequently the Rock County Farm Bureau calls for full support of both the farmers, whom we seek to represent, and those are directly or indirectly dependent upon those farmers in their business or their jobs.

- 1.—We want a county sales pavilion. The farmers must have it to sell their stock. It means dollars to them and dollars to you, Mr. Banker and Mr. Businessman. If a farmer sells his cattle for $500 a head because he has better animals and better sales, instead of $100, then that farmer is better satisfied with his sales and cattle. If the farmer has money WE all have money. The Rock County Farm Bureau wants all breed associations and business interests to unite to build the farmers a sales pavilion—not years from now—but right now. Let's put a good pavilion in the Christmas stocking of the farmers.
- 2.—The Farm Bureau is preparing a complete stock blank. We want all farmers to list stock and produce they have or will have for sale. It is for all farmers in our county. If you have something for sale, let the Farm Bureau help serve you in finding a buyer. Let's make "Rock County First" in stock sales.
- 3.—The Rock County Farm Bureau is as "big as YOU make it." It is yours, yours to use, and its officers are working for you as farmers.
- 4.—We want our farmers to take an active interest in our county sales, to attend them and look over the stock that is offered for sale. Encourage cooperative selling of our own stock—the best in the state.

H. C. HEMMINGWAY, President.
C. E. CULVER, Secretary, Court House, Janesville.
